

Brady Kraft, Technology Director

Brady Kraft was recruited in 2009 to design and implement the Idaho Education Network for the State of Idaho. Since then, he has managed every step of the implementation and provides oversight for all strategic partners, completing Phase I of the IEN one year ahead of schedule and 16% under budget. Brady is responsible for all budgeting and reporting for public, private and grant funds.

Brady has over 15 years of experience in design and deployment of video solutions and over 12 years of senior management experience in education for both private and public colleges and universities. Prior to joining the IEN, Brady served the rural communities of Wyoming as Director of Technology and Training, establishing a federal grant funded community technology center to provide K-14 and adult students transitional educational opportunities.
